ERECTING NEW GARAGE BUILDING

Middendorff Huber Expect to Complete New Garage by Jan. 1.

Contractor John Dupre has completed excavations for the basement and foundations of a new garage building to be erected by Middendorff and Huber, of the Antioch Motor Sales.

The new building is to be a modern, fire-proof structure, 50x100 ft., and will extend across three lots just west of the firm's present building. It will be built of brick, with Meeker steel arch roof and will be equipped with a modern heating plant.

According to present plans of the owners, the new building is to be used to house the repair shop and storage for new cars while the present garage room will be given over to the used car department and for storage purpose. The new work shop will be equipped with all the latest machinery, including a cylinder boring machine, the proprietors announce.

11,000 foot Floor Space.

With the completion of the new building the total floor space devoted to this firm's business will be over 11,000 square feet. The business of Middendorff and Huber has been increasing rapidly and for some time past the proprietors have felt the need of the added floor space the new addition to their business will afford. Weather conditions permitting, Contractor Dupre expects to have the new garage near completion by the first of the year.

Operate Four Garages.

In addition to their Antioch business, Middendorff and Huber operate three other sales and service stations, having quite well established garages at Spring Grove and McHenry, and recently acquiring a fourth place of business, the Nipper-sink Garage at Fox Lake. A complete service department in maintained at each place and the sales department includes the handling of used cars as well as the new offerings of Willys-Kaighns, Overlands, Whippets and Studebakers.

Despondent because he thought the "star boarder" was paying undue attention to his wife, John Dorn, Westminster avenue, Lake Forest, made two unsuccessful attempts to commit suicide last Friday afternoon by jumping from a pier into the icy waters of Lake Michigan, at Lake Forest, and foundering about in three feet of water, according to reports of the police there.

Dorn was rescued by Lake Forest academy students.

MANY SEEK DEPUTY JOBS.

Sheriff-elect Lawrence Doolittle, who assumes office on Monday, Dec. 6, has received 150 applications from men who want deputy jobs, it is said. Doolittle has sifted the huge list down to 18 from which number he will choose his five deputies.

Although the highest paid deputy gets but $150 a month Sheriff Doolittle admits today that he has had 150 applications for the five jobs to be filled. He declares that he has not told anybody yet just who will make up his staff of deputies and will not make public that list until Monday morning when he assumes the new position.

The couple were attended by Miss Elynn Dodge, aunt of the bride, and Edwin Rentner, Little Billie Dodge was ringbearer.

Local Lawsuit Attracts Attention

A lawsuit which attracted considerable notice in Antioch in which Otto S. Klass, local clothier, was plaintiff, and Mrs. John Pacini was the defendant, was tried before Justice J. C. James, Tuesday afternoon.

Claiming that Mrs. Pacini had refused to pay Sept. rent, $65 on the building in which she conducted a fruit stand last summer, Mr. Klass instituted a suit for collection, the case being set for trial before Justice Tarbell, but a change of venue being granted, the case was carried to Justice James. After hearing the evidence a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff and a judgment entered against Mrs. Pacini, who states that she is far from satisfied with the verdict against her and declares she will appeal the case and ask for damages because of the fact that she was not given possession of the building she had leased from Mr. Klass until two month later than the time agreed upon.

Attorney Behenna, of Waukegan, represented Mrs. Pacini in the trial and Attorney Weber, of Lake Villa was counsel for Mr. Klass. The case is being watched with interest.

ABOUT THANKSGIVING TIME

What a splendid world this is when all
The hills are green in May,
When the Bob White whistles his morning call,
And winter is far away;
When the wind makes music among the reeds
And blossoms are pink and white;
When the eager sprouts spring forth from the seeds
And the clouds are high and light;
When the trees and the hedger are full of song
And lovers drop into rhyme
—But—

It remains a pretty fair world along
About Thanksgiving time.
It's a splendid world to the fair June bride
And the hopeful graduate;
To the maid who stands at her lover's side
In the moonlight at the gate;
It's a splendid world when we sit and dream
In the shade of a friendly tree
And learn the song of a tinkling stream
That is seeking a far-off sea;
It's a splendid world when the lark's glad song
Makes the morning seem sublime
—But—
It remains a pretty fair world along
About Thanksgiving time.

Richardson is away on his honeymoon.

GEORGE SAVAGE DIES IN KENOSHA

Antioch friends of the blind man, George Savage, will be grieved to learn of his death last Sunday, at the age of sixty-five years.

In spite of having suffered total blindness for the past twenty-two years, Mr. Savage was always cheerful and could find his way unassisted all over the city of Kenosha. Once however, the traffic proved too much for his intuitive senses and last Friday evening he was struck by a taxi sustaining serious injuries about the head, shoulders, back, he remained in an unconscious state at St. Catherine's hospital in Kenosha until Sunday night when he passed quietly passed away.

Funeral services took place at the St. Thomas church, of Kenosha, Wednesday at 9 a. m. Burial was in the St. James cemetery, Kenosha.

FIRE COMPANY INITIATES FIVE

The Antioch Volunteer fire department members initiated five members at a meeting held at the village hall Tuesday night. Not much other business was transacted at the meeting, as the time was given over to having a good social time and enjoying the fine feed. As one member stated "a grand time was had by all."

William Warren Winchell the oldest resident of this county celebrated his 98th birthday at his home in Wilmot on Wednesday, Nov. 24. Surrounded by the immediate members of his family and his many friends who came to congratulate him on reaching the ninety-eighth mile stone of his life.

Mr. Winchell was born in Chittenden Falls, Madison county, New York on the 24th of November 1828. His parents, of Massachusetts and Vermont origin, were farmers and he has lived a good share of his life on the farm. During the early part of his married life he lived on his father's farm in New York but in 1867 he came to Wisconsin and within a few months he bought the farm which he still owns in Randall Township, Kenosha county. Here he lived until 1907 with his wife and his son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George Winchell Thiel. It was a happy home and noted for its hospitality. In the year 1907 the two families moved to the present Winchell home at Wilmot. Here Mr. and Mrs. Winchell celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary with a large gathering of friends and relatives. Four years afterwards she was taken from the family group by death. Marie Kellogg was married to W. W. Winchell on December 31, 1851, and passed away in 1911. Three children were born to this union: Charles who died in infancy, George who passed away January 9th, 1924 and Adelaide, Mrs. Hiram Patrick, who is tenderly caring for her father and making his declining years happy ones. There is also one granddaughter, Mrs. W. H. Kruekman, of Burlington, Wis., and four great-grandchildren.

Politically, Mr. Winchell, is a Republican and an admirer of the late Robert LaFollette. Life's pathway has passed thru pleasant places for Mr. Winchell and he has been granted the privilege not given to many to have lived nearly a century. It is but the past few years that Mr. Winchell discontinued his walks about the village where he has been a loved and familiar figure so long. He derived much pleasure being driven about the country in his car until the condition of health prevented such life recently. But his active interest in people and places remains.

Union Free High School Notes

Four high school boys, Charles Jurvick, John Menier, Leo Letting and Willie Floegel, who represented the school in the recent state stock-judging contest at Madison, have brought an unusual honor to the school. Seventy-five teams from all parts of the state were represented in the contest, and the Wilmot boys secured sixth place, an excellent record. Charles Jurvick acquitted himself especially well in judging fat stock, securing a high individual. Success was the secret of the success of the boys, since they placed well up near the top in each event.

Taking sixth place out of seventy-one is a feat that the school and community may well be proud of, and the boys are indeed worthy of praise. Not too much credit can be given to Mr. M. M. Schurr, who put together such a capable team in the very short time he has been here. A part time school agriculture is the test feature to be opened under the supervision of Mr. Schurr. This class, which meets every Tuesday and Thursday evening, is especially for boys who are not in school but are desirous of securing a knowledge that they could not otherwise obtain. Twenty-six boys are now enrolled in the class, and a few more are expected. The work taken up this year will be farm shop, gas engines and automobiles. Here is an excellent opportunity for boys not fortunate enough to attend school in the daytime.

The week of Thanksgiving is known as Clean Up Week in the high school. A movement to keep the building clean, promote better personal appearance, help create a desire for beauty in the school and home, is being sponsored by the class in citizenship. Numerous posters are placed in conspicuous places throughout the building. It is hoped that this idea will not exist merely for one week, but will be the basis of forming habits of cleanliness and beauty.

The literary program Friday afternoon given by the citizenship class was a pronounced success. Music was furnished in the form of a vocal solo by Marian Becker, and a cornet solo by Earl Blood, and Winsor Madden gave an interesting talk on the basketball outlook. The feature of the program was a fiery and peppy debate on the subject. Received that student government should be adopted in the Wilmot School. The victorious affirmative side was composed of Gladys Miller, Arthur Bloss and Mary Daly, while Malcolm Dalton, Loretta Hazelman and Norman Jodelle the negative. It was one of the most interesting and best prepared debates ever heard in this school.

The first basketball game will be played with the Alumni on December third, and reports are common that the old grads will be back strong. No doubt many other alumni will be present to cheer their old classmates attempts a comeback. Such stars of other days as Stan Becker, Stuh Loth, Bud Richards, Babe Loth, Fritz Schmalfeldt, Norm Richter, Ted Stoen and others are expected back against their alma mater, but Captain McDougall is confident that his speedy team will prove the old adage that youth will be served.

First Lesson in Geography

The Anglo-Saxons gave names to localities from their supposed resemblance to parts of the human body, as headland, a neck of land, a tongue of land, the mouth of a river, the brow of a hill, an arm of the sea, and so on. Bittersea was once known as Peter's Eye, or Peter's Island; Chelsea was Cleiseye, and Bermondsey was Bermond's eye, all of them having been originally islands.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SOUL AND BODY" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, Sunday, November 21.

The Golden Text was from Isaiah 44:22. The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. And if children, then heirs, heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." (Romans 8:14, 16, 17)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Even though you aver that the material senses are indispensable to man's existence or entity, you must change the human concept of life, and must at length know yourself spiritually and scientifically. The evidence of the existence of Spirit, Soul, is palpable only to spiritual sense, and is not apparent to the material senses, which recognize only that which is the opposite of Spirit." (p. 359)

White Shirts of Fans

Cause of Good Hurling

"Sheriff" John Blake of the Chicago Cubs recently pitched a one-hit game against the Cardinals in St. Louis. He does not attribute it to his hook or his control. White shirts are the secret, says Blake.

"The centerfield bleachers were jammed with fans in their shirt sleeves, and they made a solid white background for the ball when it came toward the plate. All I had to do was keep the ball high, so it would come out of those shirts, and the batters couldn't see it half the time until it was past them."

"I've pitched dozens of better ball games than that one and got beat. Don't think Alexander wasn't using those white shirts, either. He was keeping the ball high and inside. 'I wasn't figuring on how many hits, I didn't think about it. But I never knew a pitcher who worked a no-hit game who had any luck afterward, so I'm not worrying about Southworth's hit."

Early School for Blind

The first school for the blind in America was the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts Asylum for the Blind, founded at Boston in 1822, through the influence and energetic efforts of Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, husband of Julia Ward Howe, and the munificence of Col. Thomas H. Perkins, who was born 161 years ago. His name has been perpetuated by the institution he founded for the benefit of the sightless.

Galli-Curci Swayed by the Seer of SwedenPrima Donna Gives Wonderful Interpretation of the Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg—

HENRY FORD'S Dearborn Independent publishes a remarkable article on Galli-Curci and Emanuel Swedenborg, by Clarence W. Barron of the Wall Street Journal.

Mr. Barron, still credulous, continued his correspondence with Madame Galli-Curci for some months. He learned that soon after she lost her dear mother she had sought the Writings of Swedenborg in a desire to know more about the other world of affection for all that is ennobling whence her mother had gone. She spent the entire summer vacation studying Swedenborg's Works, and declared: "They have meant, and mean more to me than anything else I have ever read."

Mr. Barron is chairman of the Rotch Trust, who acting under the will of Lydia S. Rotch of New Bedford, Mass., began in 1872 a modern translation of the Theological Works which Emanuel Swedenborg wrote and published in the Latin tongue, and deposited in the libraries of the world 150 years ago.

This work was completed and published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. in 32 volumes in 1907.

About three years ago there appeared in a Cleveland paper a paragraph that among her other accomplishments Galli-Curci had read all the Theological Writings of Emanuel Swedenborg. The claim seemed so absurd to Mr. Barron that he thought it might be easily punctured by a

Then answer to yourself the number of years that ought to be required to master these thirty-two volumes"

When Galli-Curci returned from California Mr. Barron motored up into the Catskills to her beautiful Italian palace, and in an afternoon with her and her husband, Mr. Homer Samuels, he was convinced that Galli-Curci had read and devoured Swedenborg in a brief period than any body had ever done before.

He says of this interview: "Hours flew like minutes. I wasn't the questioner. Mr. and Mrs. Samuels were at me with the sharpest and deepest questions. They seemed to perfect harmony mentally and spiritually, as in their work in music."

Wanted to Learn

Easy Enough

Dear Sir—I see where some fellow kept awake 100 hours to win a $200 bet. A certain son of a certain father I know was home two weeks during the holidays, and, so far as I know, he never slept a wink during the entire fortnight. He didn't do it on a bet, either, although it cost me considerably more than $200.—P.A.—Mobile Register.

Odd Marriage Custom

A quaint marriage custom prevails among the native tribes on the Benue river in Central Africa. When a man marries, his sister goes through a wedding ceremony with the bride's brother. If there is no sister the bridegroom has to enter into an agreement with his brother-in-law to work for him for a period of three years, this being the standard value of a sister.

DISHES GET FIRST SCRUBBING IN AGES

Ancient Pottery Found in Pueblo to Be Cleaned.

Washington.—Dishes that have not been washed for hundreds of years are about to be scrubbed and put on exhibition at the United States national museum here. They are the collection of earthen kitchen-ware, funeral urns, and other objects brought back from Eldon pueblo, an ancient Indian metropolis near Flagstaff, Ariz., by Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, curator of American ethnology at the Smithsonian Institution.

The bowls, vases, pots and jars were used by the ancestors of the modern race of Hopi Indians. It is believed, and are much cruder than those found farther south in Mexico and Central America. Many of them are lopsided and none of them have flat bottoms.

Unlike Perfected Pottery Today. They are quite unlike the perfected Indian pottery picked up by tourists in the southwestern United States today. Most of the bowls, jugs and effigies are made of red clay baked over fires so that the inside is smoked black and the outside clouded into irregular black and red shapes. These articles are said to resemble the crude prehistoric pottery of Egypt before the days of recorded history, and apparently the same method was used in making both.

A second type of pottery depends for its decorative effect on notches made by the thumb-nail or by a pointed stick uniformly all over the outer surface. These vessels appear to have been made by laying strings of clay around and around and notching them into place until the shape desired was built up. This gives a corrugated effect to the objects.

Many Bowls Effectively Decorated. Many of the other pots and jars are covered with conventional Indian type of designs in black and white meandering and zigzagging over the surface.

One especially effective bowl might easily have been done by a modern artist of the impressionistic school.

Some of the objects found were recovered from within the ruins of the house, but many more beautiful and interesting ones came from the graveyard at the back. According to the aboriginal Indian custom, effigies and vessels probably once filled with food, medicines, and holy objects were buried with the dead. The corpses were plastered down with adobe and the possessions of the deceased placed around and on top. In many cases the skeleton remains found had been dressed up in shell bracelets and ornaments.

All of the objects brought back were covered with crusts of alkali, which entirely covered the surface and hid the interesting details. Only a few of them have been washed and studied to date.

TELLS OF LINCOLN'S RIVAL IN DEBATE

One of Few Who Matched Wits With President.

White Hall, Ill.—Joshua Lamborn, one of the few men who matched wits with Abraham Lincoln in debate, and whose name had been practically buried in an obscure grave here, will live again in a history of his life now being written.

The history of H. P. Lowenstein of Kansas City, member of a White Hall family, will be placed in the archives of the Illinois State Historical society at Springfield. Lamborn was a former attorney general of Illinois. He died at the age of thirty-eight in 1847 and he was buried in the old White Hall cemetery, where his body has lain marked only by a simple slab.

The story of how his grave was restored was told by R. B. Pearce, secretary of the White Hall Historical society.

"The issuance of a pamphlet by Mr. Lowenstein in 1919," Mr. Pearce said, "awakened new interest in this former attorney general of Illinois. With renewed search for facts of his life, and the beginning of his history, the historical society restored the grave and put it in presentable condition."

"Only recently Mr. Lowenstein found a statement where Stephen A. Douglas credited Lamborn with putting him (Douglas) on the oratorical map in a debate between these two men. Both being Democrats, Mr. Lowenstein was unable at the time to state what the debate concerned."

"Joshua Lamborn was one of a coterie of young lawyers," Mr. Lowenstein's story said, "who used to meet in the evening with Mr. Lincoln at Speed's store in Springfield, Ill., and discuss political and other subjects of general interest."

It was said that Lamborn was Lincoln's equal, but death overtook him and cut short his career, and he is now almost forgotten.

Boy Reared in Arctic Will Test "Civilization"

San Francisco.—Civilization and "easy living" are being put to the test by Thomas "Mickey" Gordon. The "trial" will determine whether Mickey, who was born at Point Barrow, Alaska, twenty-one years ago and lived there until this fall, will go back to the northland.

Mickey was brought here by his father, Tom Gordon, fur trader at Point Barrow for 40 years. Tom Gordon fitted out the 1915 expedition of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, and is a personal friend of Roald Amundsen.

The Gordons, father and son, came south on the fur-trading schooner Charles Brower. "Ever since he was a small boy I promised I'd take him 'outside' to see the bright world of make-believe," said the elder Gordon. "Make-believe, because it doesn't seem substantial to me any more. Let the boy look around. I go North next spring, when the ice breaks."

Mickey can choose for himself—between "make-believe" and the frozen land of his birth.

Dainty Cigarettes Win Favor From Paris Men

Paris.—Cigarettes of dainty color, for years an affection of fashionable smokers who shop in Fifth avenue, Bond street and the Rue de la Paix, have captivated the male of the species in France.

Not long ago, as an experiment, the state tobacco monopoly began wrapping its higher-priced cigarettes in paper of various hues—coral, amethyst and emerald. They have proven so popular that the monopoly intends to adopt other colors, and even to issue one assorted package under the name of "rainbow."

The ordinary cheaper French cigarette will remain what it has always been—neither a thing of beauty nor a joy.

Indian Strums Ukulele as Fire Warms Cellar

New York.—A cold and lonesome North American Indian crawled into the basement of an apartment house in West End avenue and built himself a fire. He then wrapped a blanket around his shivering shoulders and strummed a ukulele accompanied to a series of plaintive prairie songs. The combination of smoke and doleful notes was too much for tenants, who called Patrolman Costa of the West Sixty-eighth street station. Another tenant turned in a fire alarm.

Costa dragged the Indian out into the open air and demanded his name.

"Charles Mohawk," the Indian replied.

"Mohawk what?" persisted Costa.

"Mohawk Indian," the prisoner replied.

It developed that Charles Mohawk was forty-two years old. He said he had been a rider with "Buffalo Bill" Cody, and later with the 101 Ranch. He had a photograph of Colonel Cody with him. Magistrate Norris in the West Side court sentenced him to six months in the workhouse on a charge of disorderly conduct.

FARM NOTES

Crop reports indicate a big world production of rye, wheat, and oats.

Cows that will freshen this fall will pay later if you give them good care now.

The old-fashioned milk cow must go; cow-teasing associations are weeding her out.

When all the cows have had the tuberculous test, then all the world will be doubly blessed.

Some farmers say that personal preference is the first factor to consider in choosing a breed of swine to raise.

If your farm grew paintbrush and daisies this past season, it probably needs lime. Fall is a good time to spread it.

Records and accounts are as important on a farm as they are in a wholesale grocery business. Are you keeping a set of accounts?

Ancient Ideas Wrong
The old speculations as to the great difference of levels between the Mediterranean and the Red sea, and on the two sides of the isthmus of Panama, have been proved by modern leveling of high precision to be totally erroneous.

SPENDING AND SAVING

We Do Not consider the miser a good citizen. Neither do we have much time for the spend-thrift.

The wise man, however, is a good influence in our community. He does not deny himself and his family such comforts as he can afford. Neither does he spend his money as fast as he makes it. But he does spend wisely and saves a part of his earnings.

It is because of stored up capital that we are able to finance farming and business enterprises. Our very civilization is built upon thrift.

The officers of this bank encourage the people of the community to spend judiciously and save systematically. Come in and consult them any time about your financial affairs.

Chinese Philanthropy Odd
Quaint forms of philanthropy are evident in almost every part of China. Funds are maintained for transporting to his native province any man who dies away in home, another organization provides coffins for poor children, and another society sets up "drinking fountains" of tea or water for the thirsty coolies who are lowest in the scale of Chinese labor.

Ask your banker's advice before making investments

INVESTING money is a business in itself. It is a bank's main business. The average man is too liable to allow friendship, sentiment or other influences to guide him in placing the money accumulated by hard work or privations.

Hundreds of millions of dollars a year have been lost to investors through worthless securities. A banker is qualified by knowledge and experience to avoid the pitfalls in which the unwary too often lose their all.

Grade School Notes

The "One Hundred Spelling Demons," the notorious troublemakers of spelling lessons and other written exercises, were given to all grades above the third last week. This list of words of demoniacal nature, was selected by Dr. W. Franklin Jones after his extensive spelling research as the one hundred words most commonly misspelled. These words were given to the pupils without warning or time for study and the words spelled incorrectly are now being used in all the spelling classes as drill lists.

This same test will be given again at the close of the school year and it is hoped that by that time the demons will have been all cast out.

Names of pupils proving themselves good impromptu spellers are given below with their respective standing.

Fourth grade pupils spelling 75 or more words correctly are:

SCHOOL CHILDREN LEARN

BY LETTER WRITING

Fifth Grade Gets Letter From Oakland, Calif.—Sends Interesting Reply to Pacific Coast Children.

How school children learn by letter writing is very aptly shown by the following letters, the first, sent to the Antioch fifth grade from fifth grade pupils in Oakland, California.

Highland School,
Oakland, Calif.,
September 15, 1926

Our dear Stranger:

We wish to hear from a different region, so we are writing you.

We are about two thousand miles almost west from you. It would take you three days and two nights by train or about ten days or two weeks with an automobile, and although we are about the same distance north we do not have snow or ice as you do but it rains in your winter and our summer are dry. Two seasons you see.

We are one of many schools in Oakland. This one is crowded so we have eight cottages besides the main buildings. Our games are like your summer games. What do you play in winter? They must be different. Our studies I guess are about the same.

We have five trees in our home garden. Two fig trees, two plum and one pear tree. Please tell us about your yards and homes. Have you a radio? Have steam shovels, or steam rollers.

Do you get a chance to earn money and what do you do? Some of us worked in the cannery. We can cut peaches and run the pitter. We are paid 14c a box.

Hoping to hear soon, we are your little Pacific friend,

Alice Silva.

(This following letter was written by the fifth grade class during their language periods in answer to the letter received from the Highland School of Oakland, California, Fifth Grade Class.)

Antioch, Illinois
Nov. 5, 1926.

Dear Pacific Friends:

We were glad to receive your interesting letter. We learned many new things about California, and hope we can tell you something new about Northern Illinois.

We live about fifteen miles west of Lake Michigan, fifty miles north-west of Chicago, and just south of the Wisconsin boundary. You can tell where that is on your map of the United States.

Just now we are having fall weather. It is getting cold. In the morning we have frost and sometimes a little ice. We have had many dreary days, and some warm, sunny weather. The leaves have turned red, brown and yellow, and are falling to the ground.

We have maple, elm, ash, box-elder, oak, weeping-willow, weeping mulberry, many kinds of nut trees, and different kinds of evergreen trees.

You asked about our fruit trees. We have apple, pear, plum, peach, cherry, choke-cherry and mulberry trees. We have strawberries, currants, gooseberries, raspberries, blackberries, blueberries and grapes. We like your California grapes, grapefruit, oranges, and lemons.

As you said, our summer games are different from our winter games. Fox and goose, Trailing the Bear, Follow the Leader, Snowball fights, Sled-racing, Bob-sled riding, Skating, Tobogganing, Skiing, making snow-men, and making Eskimo houses. To play Fox and Goose, there should be at least four children. All go in a line making a circle in the snow. They cut the circle in four parts each leading to the center. One person is the Fox, the rest are geese. The fox tries to catch the geese. The person that is caught is the fox. The center is a resting place.

Our schoolyard is made of fine, crushed stone around the building. Out in the yard farther, is grass. Our schoolyard has about twenty-five trees. We have six swings, and a pole with eight giant strides. We have three teeter-totters. Then we have a basketball for baseball and a basketball court. I suppose you have many flowers and shrubs that wouldn't grow in our school yard. There is shrubbery around our schoolhouse.

There are eight grades in our school in four rooms, and a special room, in our room there are twenty-four fifth graders and sixteen sixth graders. The high school is on the other side of town.

When we are through with our spelling lesson and have a little time we play "traffic cop." We have two rows of scholars lined up to cross the same street, with the same amount of pupils in each row. Then Miss Haas takes her spelling-book and pronounces the words to one row. Each one who spells a word crosses the street. If someone misspells a word, the traffic changes. We want to see which side gets through the traffic first. If a scholar misspells several words, he is sent to his seat to learn to drive his car.

You asked if we have radios, too. We have them, and some of us have heard Los Angeles broadcast. Do you hear any of the Chicago stations?

Our teacher says we have taken enough class time for right now. We would like to have you write again.

Your Illinois friends,
The Fifth Grade
of Antioch, Ill.

New Officials
for North Shore

Appointment of John F. Egolf, as general manager, and Howard P. Savage, as assistant general manager, of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad Company is officially announced by the North Shore Line.

This follows the recent appointment of Jesse S. Hyatt, former general manager, as chief engineering assistant to Bernard J. Fallon, Vice-President in charge of operation of the four electrically operated railroads in the Chicago Metropolitan area, and of Bert W. Arnold, former assistant general manager as assistant to Mr. Fallon with supervision over motor coach operations of the railroads.

Mr. Egolf, who is one of the best known electric railroad men in the country, began his career in 1902 as a conductor on the street railways in Columbus, Ohio. He rose rapidly from the ranks and soon was holding the position of assistant superintendent of the Ohio Electric Railway Company, with headquarters in Springfield and Newark. In 1914 he became manager of the Springfield and Xenia (Ohio) Railways, with headquarters in Springfield. After serving in this capacity for four years, he became manager of the Interurban Railway and Terminal Company, Cincinnati, Ohio. He served as general manager of the Aurora, Elgin and Fox River Electric Company from 1922 to August, 1926, when he was appointed assistant to Bernard J. Fallon, Vice-President in charge of operation of the four electrically operated railroads serving the Chicago Metropolitan area.

Mr. Savage, who has been serving the Chicago Rapid Transit Company as General Superintendent Maintenance of Way, is an internationally known figure, having only a few days ago been elected National Commander of the American Legion at the national convention in Philadelphia. He entered the electric railway industry in 1913 as a track foreman on the Metropolitan West Side Elevated Railroad, later being promoted to track engineer of the "L" lines and then to the position which he held at the time of his new appointment.

During the World War, Mr. Savage secured a leave of absence and obtained a commission in the 55th Engineers, serving in France from July, 1918 until July, 1919. On his return to civil life, he resumed his position with the Rapid Transit Lines, in accordance with the policy of all utilities under the management of Samuel Insull and associates, that every one who was in government service should be restored to his former position or a better one.

RECKLESSNESS AND REGULATION

Only a relatively small per cent of automobile drivers are careless.

But they are sufficient in number to make driving on the highways hazardous. On a Sunday or holiday many people refrain from driving because of the hazards. It is neither fair nor is it necessary that careless drivers should drive others off the highway, to which and on which everyone has an equal right.

Automobiles are safe, highways are safe and driving practices must be made safe.

An oil company, operating several hundred trucks, has not had a collision or accident on the highways or at railroad crossings for a number of years, although during that time its trucks crossed railroad tracks more than 31,000,000 times.

It selects its drivers with proper care, instructs them in safe practices and gives them to understand that failure to stop, look and listen before crossing a railroad track, or failure properly to observe traffic rules and safe practices on the highways, will result in dismissal from the service.

It logically follows that public regulation of the same character would accomplish a like result, and with automobiles increasing in number, with proportional increase in congestion and hazard of accident, the point has been reached and the time has arrived for affirmative legislative action in this regard.

But compulsory automobile insurance is not the solution; it will not reduce accidents; it will tend to increase them by removing the last vestige of personal responsibility from persons already careless.

TELEPHONE COURTESY

When you use the telephone, are you impressed with the courtesy of the operator? Unless you take everything as a matter of course, you can scarcely fail to note that the unknown feminine voice on the central board is just about 100 per cent graciousness.

Just lately we have noticed that the operator, instead of repeating after you the number which you have called, says "Thank you." To us that means a lot. It means that she is the only point of contact with the general public, is glad to have you call, that she appreciates your use of the service she affords, and that she will exert her best efforts to give you the connections desired.

This courtesy, if you take the trouble to notice the handling of long distance calls, extends beyond the contact between the operator and the subscriber. When one operator gives a call to another, she always says "Please," and the receiving operator says "Thank you." In all call and repeat conversation necessary in the handling of such calls, the same even voice courtesy prevails. No yelling, no barking, no fussing—all business and always with kindly consideration. This is part of the system of training, no doubt, of the telephone company.

Some girls, like some men, are naturally kindly and courteous, and some in the premises are not. But after they have worked for the telephone company for a time, they cease to be "hello" girls, and some to be pleasant voiced "thank you" girls. All business would be pleasant if it were conducted along these lines.

We would like it if every one of our employees could spend a few months in the telephone operating service just for the training it affords. Our own sons and daughters could profit equally.

Of course, back of this show of courtesy must be the real spirit of service—which the telephone system has—for no amount of "pleases" can take the place of the connection you want. But if you are willing to serve, to do the day's work before you do it well, it is a splendid thing to show in "please" and "thank you."

And it pays. Bell Telephone stock is worth $146 a share—because it is efficient and courteous.

This is a valuable business lesson. The man or woman who sets out in life to give 100 per cent service with 100 per cent courtesy will see his stock rise to above par, and the returns will be far greater than those which come to the one who serves grudgingly and grumpily.

Tattoo Hogs to Trace Diseased Stock

Tattooing of hogs has been found to be an inexpensive and practical method of tracing live-stock diseases and protecting the public against impure meats, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. The hogs are tattooed by tapping them on the back with an instrument containing a marker made of phosphorus needles which leaves an indelible impress. When the hogs reach the market it is easy to identify owners of tubercular stock.

Co-Operative Live Stock Associations

Appreciable Saving to Farmers Has Been Result.

There are now from 4,000 to 5,000 co-operative live-stock shipping associations in the United States, according to the latest figures of the United States Department of Agriculture. Rapid development has occurred in the past eight or twelve years, and particularly during the past eight years, the department says, emphasizing that the movement must be recognized as a factor of permanent and growing importance in the marketing of live stock.

A study of co-operative live stock shipping associations has been made by the department, the results of which have been published in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1562-F. Principal requisites to the success of co-operative live stock shipping associations, according to the bulletin, are a competent manager, good business methods, and loyalty on the part of members. It is important that the manager be well known in the community and experienced in marketing live stock. It is important, also, that the officers, particularly the board of directors, keep informed at all times as to the financial affairs of the association.

Wherever co-operative live stock associations have been operated efficiently in communities where there was a genuine need for them, an appreciable saving to the farmers has resulted, says the department. The profit that formerly went to the local shipper now goes to the farmer, and he has the satisfaction of knowing that he receives for his stock the actual market price, less the cost of marketing.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained, as long as the supply lasts, upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Foundation of Quality Essential for Success

"A solid foundation of quality goods combined with economical production is essential to the success of any type of marketing of poultry or its products," says J. B. Hayes, poultry specialist at the University of Wisconsin. "If one is unable to produce at a cost lower than the selling price, the venture, whatever it may be, is destined to ultimate failure," he declares.

"Volume of production and cost of production are inseparable," Hayes maintains. "Increase in cost always accompanies a slump in production. For economical production, it is necessary that volume of production be maintained. Special emphasis has been placed on the feeding of mink for this purpose." Hayes gives, as an example of this, the case of the Portage county farmer, who had been feeding his flock without mink. The last week in August they produced 180 eggs. He then added mink to the ration and raised his production to 297 eggs a week, and this at a time of the year when a drop in production is to be expected. A record was kept of the total feed cost and the return from the eggs was almost exactly double the feed cost. One-third of the flock was then removed by culling and there was further reduction in feed cost accompanied by a corresponding increase in return above the cost of feed."

Quarantine Against Hog Cholera Very Important

If hog cholera breaks out in the neighborhood, farmers whose hogs are not affected should maintain a strict quarantine against the infected herds. It is important that they refrain from visiting farms where the diseased hogs are located. They should also insist that their neighbors stay out of their hog lots, since the hog-cholera virus may be carried on the shoes of humans. The infection may be carried from farm to farm by moving animals such as dogs or by movable objects such as farm implements. Therefore, the spreading of the disease should be guarded against as far as possible. The most dependable precautionary measure against the disease, however, is immunization of the herd with anti-hog-cholera serum.

1925 Yearbook Is Distributed

Volume Discusses Fruit and Vegetable Industry and Statistics.

The 1925 Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture, which is the fifth and last of a series inaugurated under the direction of the late Henry C. Wallace, is now being distributed. The preceding volumes of this series, which deal primarily with the economic aspects of agriculture, have covered in a comprehensive manner the subjects of live stock, grains, dairy products, tobacco, forestry, forage resources, fibers, land utilization and land tenure, highways, credit, taxation, the poultry industry, and the weather forecasting.

The present volume discusses the fruit and vegetable industry, contains the secretary's annual report to the President, and more than half of its 1,500 pages are given over to agricultural statistics.

"In the five years covered by the series of yearbooks now concluded," said Secretary Jardine in announcing the 1925 volume, "American agriculture has been harassed as never before. Farmers have been handicapped by disparities between the prices of things they have had to sell and the things they have had to buy. They have been faced with urgent crop readjustment problems and with a decrease occasioned by overstocked and demoralized markets. The economic studies contained in this series of yearbooks were expressly intended to assist farmers in coping with such problems and difficulties. There is reason to believe that they have accomplished this subject. Although the present volume deals with a branch of agriculture that has been less affected than some other branches by the post-war depression, the fruit and vegetable industry is not without present economic problems. I hope this yearbook may help it to deal with such problems effectively."

The articles on fruits and vegetables in this volume include historical material relating to fruit and vegetable growing in this country.

Questions Answered. The value of the 1925 book is not limited to the fruit and vegetable interests. In 772 pages of statistics may be found the answers to numerous questions arising in the minds of various agricultural interests.

The agricultural yearbook is published under a special congressional appropriation. The distribution of the 400,000 copies published will be made largely by congressmen and senators, each of whom is allotted about 400 copies. The 20,000 copies purchased by the Department of Agriculture will be allotted to the various bureaus in the department for distribution to their field representatives and co-operators. Persons who are not on the list of some bureau or for any reason cannot secure a copy from a representative in congress, can purchase the yearbook from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Rye for Early Pasture Should Be Sown in Fall

If early spring pasture is wanted for hogs, sow rye this fall, says the Indiana Farmer's Guide. Some vetch can be used with it to advantage. If sown as soon as the land can be prepared after the wheat, oats or corn are out of the way, it will come on early next spring. A bushel and a half of seed is enough for early sowing, but 2 bushels per acre should be used later. If vetch is used with rye, from 30 to 40 pounds of rye and 15 to 20 pounds of vetch are about the right amounts.

Small fields of such crops furnish a great deal of pasture at little expense and leave the soil in better condition than if they had not been grown. The vetch is a legume which adds nitrogen and the fine roots of the rye protect the soil against washing which is more serious between growing seasons than most people realize. Next spring the rye can be turned under as a green manuring crop before corn planting time.

Glee Club

At the Teacher's Convention, Miss Hauke attended several music meetings, at which there were some very interesting discussions. They decided to abolish High School Glee Club competition claiming that it defeated the purpose of music. But they did plan to have song tests on the order of Spring Festivals where schools would be represented with no idea of "beating" the others but with the purpose of giving the best they had for the sake of music. That would be quite delightful and we surely would it.

Campus Notes

Phil Simpson, Barney Shunnesson, Glenna Roberts and Vida Palmer were Champaign and Urbana visitors last week end. They witnessed the game between Illinois and Ohio.

All the High School teachers were at the University of Illinois for the Annual State Teacher's Convention last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Miss Wirten and Miss Seward, former teachers here were "discovered" on Campus. They sent their greetings to their Antioch friends.

Football Ends

Antioch closed the most successful football season that they have experienced in their history scoring 184 points to their opponents 12, and by not letting a conference team score.

The fans and players are now turning their eyes toward basketball. Our gymnasium will not be completed until after Christmas. They then plan to have the finals of the Northwest Conference Tournament here. They are now planning to tear the partitions out of the old gym so that practice can be started.

News

School was dismissed at two thirty Wednesday afternoon because of the football game at Kenosha.

There was no school Thursday or Friday on account of a teachers' meeting at Urbana. Even though we did have a vacation Miss Smith assigned lessons to all her classes for the vacation days too.

The seniors took up a collection Wednesday for flowers for Della Rentner who is in the Lutheran Memorial Hospital recovering from an operation which she had Monday afternoon. She is feeling as well as can be expected and is getting along nicely.

Friday the shorthand class held had an examination and after giving it Miss Sigworth decided it was rather long and raised all the marks three points.

The American History class is studying "The critical period of American history." Ask some of them why it was critical.

The Latin League

The first meeting of the year was called Wednesday, November 17, with Miss Smith presiding. The election of officers immediately took place, in which the following officers were elected: President, Louis Forbrich, vice-president, Glenna Roberts, secretary, Louise Simons, treasurer, Joseph Bernolffo. It was decided that small donation from each member be given to cover any possible expense that may ensue in the near future.

Importance of Attending

Class Meetings It has been an outstanding fact, that if you want a thing done well, do it yourself. Very often certain members of each class get together and discuss problems which confront them while others of the class never attend a meeting and bewail the fact that it is not run to suit them. For an excuse they have that alibi that they are left in the dark as to the matter of taking care of class affairs. If they would attend each meeting they would find plenty to do, much to the satisfaction of the rest of the members of the class.

All Are Finger Printed

Argentina is the only country to have national finger-printing. For that reason it is claimed to be the one country where it is impossible for a person to lose his or her identity. There is a record of the finger prints of every one of that country's nearly 10,000,000 inhabitants.

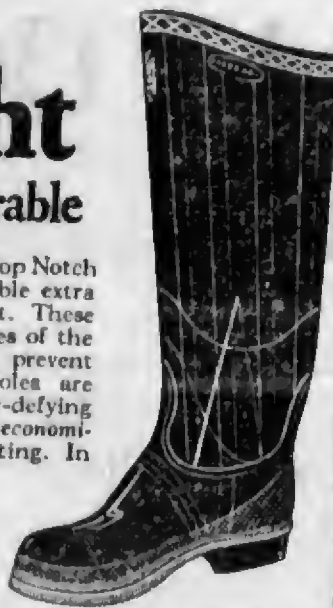

Concealing Shades

When desiring to conceal the shade of a window set back from the wall, the glass curtain should be hung inside the window frame close to the shade. There should be allowed a heading of about three inches above where the rod runs through and this will hide the shade.

Light in weight yet strong and durable

THE patented "muscles" of Top Notch Biddy Boots give remarkable extra strength without adding weight. These ribs or muscles protect the sides of the boot, strengthen them and prevent cracking. The tough gray soles are double thick to match the wear-defying qualities of the legs. The most economical boot because the longest-lasting. In short, hip and Storm King lengths.

For dependable, distinctive boots, articles and rubbers, always look for the Top Notch Cross. The most reliable stores carry the complete Top Notch line for men, women and children. The Beacon Falls Rubber Shoe Co., Beacon Falls, Conn.

Tourists Enjoy Motor Trip to Southland

good dinner. After a visit we journeyed on to Melbourne to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams.

A great deal of road improvements were going on in all states, so we had nine or ten detours, some were long and a few bad. It won't be long before there will be a hard road all the way from Chicago to Miami on the east coast and to Ft. Meyers on the west coast and thru the center of the state to Sebring.

The foliage all the way to Atlantic and thru the mountains was most beautiful and it is my opinion outside of Illinois the best farm lands are the Blue Grass Country surrounding Bowling Green.

Everyone stood the trip fine and everyone was always up and ready to go when the chauffeur and car was ready. I think it remarkably when Daddy and Mother at their age never complained and were always at the table ready to go.

Our first day in Florida was 80 degrees in the shade, but we have had several rains and it is ideal weather now.

It is quite a change here this fall from previous seasons. You do not need to stand in line to register for rooms are exorbitant prices neither are there free buses (from estate) running in other words, Florida is down to normal conditions.

We leave tomorrow for Miami and in my next letter will give you some of the things we have seen.

May all our friends be in as good health as we are.

Yours truly,

C. K. Anderson.

Russia World in Itself

The Russia controlled by Russia comprehend nearly every material natural resource of modern civilization—minerals of all kinds, base and precious; every variety of timber, excepting tropical; every character of cereals, vegetable and fruit lands being as near to self-contained as any other power excepting the British empire.

Employment Insurance

According to a report of the International labor office, seven countries have compulsory employment insurance schemes—Great Britain, Italy, Austria, Russia, Queensland (Australia), Poland and the Irish Free State. Nine countries have voluntary schemes—France, Denmark, Norway, Netherlands, Finland, Spain, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Thumb Print Receipts

A Hancock (Mich.) garage uses the Bertillon system for receipting bills. When a bill is offered for settlement the mechanic, who almost always has greasy hands, merely attaches his fingerprint. The garage keeps finger-print records of all employees.

BIG COMPANY HELPS LOCAL MERCHANTS KEEP BUSINESS AT HOME

How one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the country co-operates with their dealers to keep local business in the hands of local concerns, was interestingly brought out in a talk with one of our leading tire merchants last week.

The company to which he pointed particularly for its work in this direction is The United States Rubber Company, which has perhaps gone further along these lines than any other tire concern.

There are several reasons, aside from the very good point of keeping home money at home why our own local tire stores are the logical place to buy tires rather than the mail order houses.

Tires need looking after by an experienced tire man. He must have a well equipped and well stocked shop and be able to tell whether a tire is doing its work properly, and if not, why not.

For instance, an expert tire man can tell whether tires are wearing unduly because of the wheels being out of alignment and can correct the trouble in time.

If improperly equalized brakes are causing tire wear, the tire man can tell that and warn the owner.

This sort of service you cannot expect when you buy tires from mail order houses.

The United States Tire Company started eleven years ago to educate people to their interest in supporting the legitimate home town tire dealer.

In addition to running its own educational campaign in local papers without interruption for eleven consecutive years, the Company encourages the dealer to supplement with advertising of his own and helps him to do it. Under certain conditions it even shares the expense of the dealer's own advertising.

Recent improvements in production methods now enable the United States Rubber Company to market, through the local dealers, tires of known quality, bearing the Company's full warranty, for as little money or even less than the cost of nameless mail orders of uncertain value.

Hoity-Toity!

There is a Vigny Bruined Pustulansious Cypher in town destitute of public spirit, who, with a sneaking puerile vocabulary does try to discount the efforts of the editor behind his back. Let him be brave enough to bring his particular troubles face to face with the editor or crawl back into his shell, lay there and digest the vermin of his spleen forever.—Red Lake (Ontario) Paper.

Bloodless Quarrels

When Chinese quarrel, they do not resort to fistfights. Instead, they shout at each other or appeal to the bystanders. Each strives to prove that he is right, or attempts by ridicule and originality in abusive language to make the other "lose face." Once this is accomplished and the crowd begins to laugh, the object of the hilarity has as definitely lost as if he had been flogged by a knock-out blow.

Integrity in Art

The more beautiful the art, the more it is essentially the work of people who are striving for the fulfillment of the law and the realization of a loveliness which they have not yet attained, which they feel even farther and farther from attaining the more they strive for it. And yet, in a still deeper sense, it is the work of people who know also that they are right.—Ruskin.
